ADVANCED FINANCIAL STATEMENT
ANALYSIS

Programme Coordinators:
Prof. Sudershan Kuntluru & Prof. Rachappa Shette

November 06-10, 2017 | IIMK

OVERVIEW:

Financial statements provide substantial financial information about the firm to its stakeholders. Such information help them while making equity investment decision, credit decision, bond rating decision and several other corporate decisions. While preparing these statements managers, auditors and regulators play vital role to improve the quality of presentation. But recent corporate failures, credit defaults, misuse of accounting judgment and accounting scandals at national and international level resulted huge loss to retail investors, institutional investors, bankers and public. This makes the preparers and users of financial statements to have thorough understanding of financial reporting and analysis of financial statements with the help of advanced tools and techniques from different perspective.

The aim of this programme is to enhance financial statement users and researchers in understanding of financial reporting and financial statement analysis in order to facilitate improved decision making. It helps you to examine the impact of the differential application of accounting methods and estimates on financial statements, with particular focus on the effect of accounting choices on reported earnings, net worth, cash flow, liquidity and various measures of corporate performance including ratios.
